The game commissioner is given wide powers in preserving the wild life of the State. Section 2071 enumerates some of these as follows

"He shall have authority to propagate game, purchase specimens, engage the necessary employes, erect the necessary buildings and inclosures, and lease the necessary lands for that purpose, by and with the consent of the Governor, and he hall have authority to employ lecturers, print and distribute educational matter pertaining to wild life, and to hold exhibits throughout the State, and especially for the benefit of the school children and agriculturists, and all expenses of such enterprises shall be defrayed out of the game protection fund, as provided for the other expenses of the department of game. He shall foster the conservation of all wild life in the State in every reasonable way."

Enumerates Game Birds
The bill enumerates the following birds, which are considered game under the law: Geese, brant, river and sea ducks, rails, sora, coots, mud hens, gallinules, shore birds, plovers, surfibirds, snipe, woodcock, sandpipers, tatters, willets, curlews, wild turkeys, grouse, pheasants and qualls.

The following birds are not protected by the game law and may be huntered without a license: English and European house sparrows, blackbirds, European starlings, coopers hawk, chicken hawk, and all members of the hawk family; owls—except screech owls—and crows.

It is made unlawful for any person to bunt or kill any protected animal.

Senator Early made an unsuccessful attempt to have the woman's college bill made a special order for 12:30 o'clock on Wednesday. The motion polled twenty-one affirmative votes to nine against it; but failed of passage because of the rule which requires a two-thirds vote—twenty-seven in the Senate—to take any measure up out of its order. The bill is on the calendar on its second reading.

To provide in cities containing 50,000 inhabitants or more for the election of a special justice of the peace, to be known as the justice of the juvenile and domestic relations court. Providing for the control and eradication of the plant disease commonly known as "orange" or "cedar rust" in the magisterial districts and counties of the State where the disease is prevalent.

Weaver explained that there had been referred to his committee three bills on the fee system, the Gordon, Houston and Brower bills. It has reported the Brewer bill, and it is now on the House calendar as House bill No. 271. It was explained that the Brewer bill was the least drastic of the three, and that the Gordon bill went further in the matter of fee reform than any of the measures.

Mr. Gordon said later that he greatly doubted whether tif Brewer bill, which is far down on the calendar, would be reached during this session. If it were advanced to a hearing in the House, he may offer his original bill as a substitute on the floor.

The Brewer Bill.

The Brewer Bill.

The Brewer bill now on the calendar provides for court clerks, treasurers, commissioners of the revenue, sheriffs, high constables or city sergeants, a maximum compensation in cities of 60,699 or more of $8,599 per annum, a provision which would apply only to Richmond and Norfolk. In cities from 25,699 to 60,699 the maximum compensation is $5,590, the scale sliding down to $4,699. The most valuable feature of the bill is not in the reductions in allowances, which would affect only a few officials, but in the lause which provides that all fee officers must keep a full and accurate account of all fees and allowances, commissions and salaries actually collected, which record shall be open for public inspection. It is stated that in the reports recently made to the Senate under the West resolution many court clerks followed literally a hastily drawn resolution, and reported the total amount of their court fees only, without making any mention of allowances for such services as preparing and certifying lists of voters for elections, issuing licenses, and various other duties for which court clerks are entitled under the law to compensation.

of a ripple was caused during the discussion when, after much desultory discussion of amendments, Mr. Walton, of Hanover, moved the pending question, without giving the patron of the bill, Mr. Montague and opportunity to reply to some of the arguments made against the bill. The Weaver Amendment.

Among the amendments pending is the following, offered by Mr. Weaver, of Warren, chairman of the House Finance Committee, following the remarks he made in the House on Wednesday in regard to special tax funds devoted to special boards or departments, and which were not reviewed by the General Assembly:

"All salarles and expenses of the bureau of banking shall be paid out of funds appropriated by the General Assembly for the purpose, and it shall be the duty of the State Corporation Commission to draw orders upon the Auditor of Public Accounts for the payment of expenses of the bureau of banking authorized by law, accompanying each order with an Itemized statement of expenses which the order is intended to pay. All taxes, fees and other moneys assessed and collected for the maintenance of the bureau of banking shall be paid direct into the treasury of the State, and shall become a part of the general fund of the Com-monwealth."

The amendment is to be inserted on page 15, section 21, in lieu of the pres-ent section from lines 9 to 12.
